

Extension & Alteration to School

Dayle Bayliss was employed as part of a consultancy team working for Suffolk County Council. The School needed an additional class base as well as addressing the access issue within the School. The project provided a single storey rear extension and a level access approach. The new access meant that a new Head Teachers Office and Reception were formed, whilst also increasing the security into the school.

The internal space was further altered to provide a private space for pupil one to ones and a accessible W.C. The hard work of the Suffolk County Council Framework Contractor, Seamans Building, meant that the project was phased to limit the disruption to the school and that the project was handed over ready for the new term. The result was a space that meant the demanding needs of the client within a tight budget and programme, all thanks to the hard work and dedication of the team.
